Ballew and wife, Brannon Beazley, Captain Doty, Wood Burnside. Several others went from that locality, but we could not get their names.

A sweet little lady came up to us the other day and gave us several good personal items. Now she is a sensible woman. Most people go away and expect us to hire a detective to ferret out the fact. We appreciate items given us, and will gladly pay telephone charges on anything sent that way. We haven't time to lounge about the stores hunting for news, but make one general circuit about town every day.

Stanford Democrat:—Jake Joseph isn't afflicted with chronic enthusiasm and is generally as cool as an ice-pickled cucumber, but in telling us about Gen. Gordon's lecture at Lancaster he became excited and could hardly hold his 265-pound self on the ground. "It was the grandest thing I ever listened to and his lecture taught me more about the patriotism of this great country than I had ever dreamed of before. For the 75 cents I invested in a ticket I got value received a thousand times and if I had a chance I'd follow him up and hear him lecture every night the year round!" he said.

In the trade edition of the Carlisle Mercury, the following is printed:—W. H. Harris has for sixteen years engaged in railroad work, learning telegraphy and agents duties in the L. & N. R. R. office at Lancaster, Ky., his home town. Thirteen years ago he came to Carlisle to fill the office of operator, and was soon thereafter advanced to the position of agent. Conservative in the discharge of the road's business, very considerate in catering to the will of the many patrons of his office, he has well entrenched himself with popularity. * * * Carlisle is one of the heaviest, if not the heaviest, shipping points along the L. & N. R. R., being the freight distributing station for Carlisle and thirty-five smaller towns in the vicinity, and likewise the receiving station for the various products each has to set abroad. * * * Mr. Harris is a member of the International Association of Ticket Agents, and ever attends their annual outings. Is a member of the A. O. U. W. secret order, and belongs to the Presbyterian church. Courteous and obliging he makes for Carlisle a railroad agent, appreciated highly in all circles.

Vows Made to be Broken.

Last week a dear delinquent said he'd pay up if he lived.

He's dead.

Another said, "I'll see about that little account tomorrow."

He's blind.

Still another said, "I'll pay you this week, or go to the devil."

He's gone.

There are hundreds who ought to take warning from these awful results of procrastination and pay up now.—Exchange.

Last fall I sprained my left hip while handling some heavy boxes. The doctor I called on said at first it was a slight strain and would soon be well, but it grew worse and the doctor then said I had rheumatism. It continued to grow worse and I could hardly get around to work. I went to a drug store and the druggist recommended me to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I tried it and one-half of a 50-cent bottle cured me entirely. I now recommend it to my friends.—F. A. Babcock, Erie, Pa. It is for sale by R. E. McRoberts druggist.

Sam Jones on Newspapers.

Speaking of newspapers Sam Jones says: "If I wanted to get a right square judgment I'd rather go to a newspaper office than a court of justice. No man whose life is true, pure and just is afraid of all the newspaper presses in America. They are the best detective force in the country today. They have punctured more shams and so far as I am concerned I say take the brides off and let them go. The only ones that will be hurt will be the shams and frauds. And if you think the newspapers print too much of a sensational kind, don't you read it and they will quit printing it. The papers need to be reformed, but the people have got to reform first. Newspapers are printed for money and to suit their patrons. If you don't think they are run on a high, moral platform like Mr. Barum's circus, just reform yourselves and the papers will follow suit.—Ex.
